Important Reminders About Celebrity Visits

UO is fortunate to have big-name artists and celebrities come to visit or perform at our resort. These celebrities expect Team Members not to invade their privacy. If you notice a celebrity, please remember that soliciting photos and autographs is unprofessional conduct and will lead to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

Also, because we are a part of the entertainment industry, a lot of what occurs at UO will be newsworthy and a member of the media (TV, radio, print, and Internet) may approach you with questions. If this happens, please refer them to our Public Relations Department. The rest of us are not authorized to talk to the media about the Company or what happens within our work areas unless authorized and coordinated by our Public Relations team. This includes posting information about upcoming events or attractions on blogs or other Internet forums.

Michael J. Fox and Doc Brown took a "time out" during a visit to UO last fall.

Please remember that Team Members are expected not to:

- Take, share or distribute photos or videos of celebrities anywhere on our property (backstage or onstage) to any media outlet or on any personal or public social media outlet.
- Ask a celebrity for an autograph
- Gain access to a celebrity without explicit authorization from senior management

Violating any of these guidelines is grounds for disciplinary action, up to and including termination. If you have any questions, please contact the Public Relations Department at 407-363-8220. Thank you for your cooperation!
